

Recycling at the office.

It's not a lot of work.

Recycling is now mandatory in commercial businesses!

California's AB 341 requires that businesses must separate recyclables from garbage.

Businesses which generate 4 or more cubic yards of commercial solid waste per week must begin recycling by July 1, 2012.

Contact Waste Management at (805) 955-4346 to see if you meet this specification.

How Can I Help?

Recycling in the office is easy! Here are a few steps you can follow to start a recycling program at your business:

1. Get your Recycling Starter Kit. Recycling bins, labels, posters and more are available at bottlesandcans.com and by calling 1-800-RECYCLE.
2. Designate a "Recycling Coordinator." Every office needs a great manager with a little initiative.
3. Arrange for collection. You can contact local haulers (contact information in the link below) to explore your options for on-site recycling collection.
4. Place your bins. When people see a properly placed and labeled recycling bin, you'll find they can't help but do the right thing.
5. Educate. Make sure employees understand why recycling is important.

Please visit <http://www.ci.agoura-hills.ca.us/government/departments/solid-waste-management/commerical-services-recycling-program> for more information and tools to help you recycle.

Because recycling is everybody's business.

(Source: CalRecycle)